

Victoria Brock Library Technician

Victoria Brock worked at the Center from 1995 to 2000 both as a newsletter editor for the Advantage I-75 research project and as a library technician for Technology Transfer. She left the Center when she got married, and has recently returned as a part-time library technician. Victoria earned her degree in English from the University of Kentucky in 1995.

She volunteers for UK's Operation Educate, tutoring people from other countries, including China and Japan, to help them learn English. Through her volunteer work, she grew to love teaching and when she left the Center, she tried her hand at teaching children in the Early Childhood Development Center in Midway, Kentucky. She has organized a summer art camp for elementary school children to study drawing, painting, collage and sculpting. Her goal now is to further her education by attending classes at UK in the evenings to earn an elementary education degree.
